This will be a personal website of mine. Highlighting my personal achievements, my education, my goals, and my information.

As a computer science student, it is very important for me to create a website that highlights my personal information and provides a way for future opportunities to contact me if needed. The website will be including many elements such as my resume, personal life page, work-life page, social media, and contact information. The design will be simple yet welcoming for those who decide to learn more from my personal website. The goals are for the recruiters to see what I can offer and what is my capability if they hire me into their company.
